AUSTIN, TX – December 10, 2010 – Teksavers announces the launch of its redesigned website featuring a completely expanded product line. The site currently offers an extensive number of Dell, Cisco, and Apple products, with more products from Juniper, Extreme, Foundry/Brocade, and HP coming in the near future. The new Teksavers website incorporates easy to use navigation and provides Teksavers customers with up-to-date pricing, buy/sell requests and service inquiries.

“Our new website design reflects the very same values that have made us one of the fastest growing IT resellers in the world,” said Rick Loudon, CEO of Teksavers. “Our core values for our products & services include commitment to quality, product information and ease of use and these values are directly reflected in our new website. We have designed our website around our customer needs by providing efficient navigation to the products and services they are interested in.”

About Teksavers:

Teksavers specializes in buying and selling new & used Cisco, Dell, HP, Juniper and many other manufacturers. Teksavers focuses on customer loyalty by providing proven, tested hardware at attractive prices. In addition, we offer the safe S.A.F.E. Guard program which ensures that product purchases are a safe and affordable alternative to higher-priced new products. Today, Teksavers has grown enormously and has added dozens of market-leading products to our roster of products on offer.
